Here is an example of one author's flyer:

The flyer is divided into several sections. At the top left is a colorful illustration of a boy named Enly playing a keyboard on a street, with a girl sitting nearby. The title 'Enly and the Buskin' Blues' is written in a stylized font above them. Below the illustration is a short synopsis of the book. To the right of the illustration is a portrait of the author, Jennie Liu. Further right, the author's name 'Jennie Liu' is written in large, bold letters, followed by her website URL. Below this, there is a section for school/library visits, contact information, ISBN, price, and leveling.

Enly and the Buskin' Blues

Twelve-year-old Enly Wu Lewis is determined to go to bend camp and follow in the footsteps of his musician father, who died years ago. But his mom, a single parent working two jobs, is saving every penny for his older brother's college tuition. So Enly sets out to earn the money for camp on his own, by busking with an obscure instrument he can only kind of play. When someone drops a winning scratch-off lottery ticket into his tip box, Enly thinks it's the answer to his problems—but he'll have to overcome teenage thieves and his own family if he wants to achieve his dreams.

About the Author

Jennie Liu is the daughter of Chinese immigrants. She has been fascinated by the attitudes, social policies, and changes in China each time she visits. She lives in North Carolina with her family.
