String Ball

Chris Monroe

Key Selling Points

- Art includes dual views inside and outside the ball, encouraging readers to consider multiple perspectives
- Hilarious physical comedy in the view inside the ball
- Has the look and feel of a modern classic
- Brings together Chris Monroe's background as a newspaper cartoonist and a children's book creator for a fresh new approach

Follow along on a kitten's epic journey and safe return home in this nearly wordless picture book

Summary

When a curious kitten encounters its young owner's string ball craft project, an amazing adventure ensues! The kitten squeezes inside the ball and begins to roll . . . right out the open front door. Yikes! Kitten and ball encounter playful pups, pecking birds, a baby in a carriage, and one very slippery slide. Whee!

In the tradition of Kitten's First Full Moon and Spot, the Cat, author-illustrator Chris Monroe takes readers on a journey they won't soon forget in this nearly wordless picture book.

Contributor Bio

Chris Monroe is an award-winning author, illustrator and cartoonist. Her picture books include Sneaky Sheep, Bug On a Bike and the Monkey With a Tool Belt series, which inspired the Netflix show Chico Bon Bon: Monkey with a Tool Belt. Chris is also the author and illustrator of the comic strip Violet Days, which has been in print for more than 20 years. She lives in Duluth, Minnesota.

Nop

Caroline Magerl

Key Selling Points

- Inspired by a memory from the author's childhood of stumbling across a local junkyard
- A perfect blend of poetic text and the poetry of stunning watercolor artwork
- Ideal for teaching children to create their own path and find value within themselves rather than externally

A whimsical, gentle tale about two unlikely loners who forge a forever friendship

Summary

Nop is a scruffy kind of bear.

He sits on a dusty armchair in Oddmint's Dumporeum surrounded by the beaders, knitters, patchers, and stitchers who are much too busy to talk to him. So he watches the litter tumble until, armed with a new bow tie, he decides to create his own air balloon from litter scraps and fly away!

Contributor Bio

Caroline Magerl was born near Frankfurt in Germany and came to Australia when she was two. She has won multiple awards for her children's books. Nowadays she is a full-time artist, illustrator, and printmaker.

Barkley

Rebecca Crane

Key Selling Points

- A simple ode to happiness and self-confidence
- Perfect for dog lovers
- Rebecca Crane's animation background has made her a pro at illustrating lovable characters
- A tale of the unconditional and beautiful love between humans and their furry best friends

A timeless message about finding self-contentment and happiness, expressed in the kid-friendly voice of a lovable dog named Barkley

Summary

This is the story of a small dog named Barkley who is having a bit of an identity crisis.

Barkley sees all the dogs around him, and they each have something that makes them unique—big dogs, fluffy dogs, long dogs, fierce dogs. But what kind of dog is Barkley? Just imagine his surprise when he discovers he's a LOST dog. Luckily, his owner Max helps him realize he's more than just that: he's a best friend dog, and that makes him a happy dog, too. And you can't ask for much more than that.

Frank's Red Hat

Sean E. Avery

Key Selling Points

- Explores the important theme of being true to yourself
- Delightfully quirky and deadpan humor
- Perfect for fans of Jon Klassen, Mo Willems, and Oliver Jeffers

A story about never giving up on your talents, because even though what you do may not be appreciated right now, it may be in time

Summary

Frank is a penguin with ideas. Mostly terrible ones.

That's why his fellow penguins are nervous when he shows them his strange new creation. It was something they'd never seen or expected to see in their cold and colorless Antarctic world—a red hat.

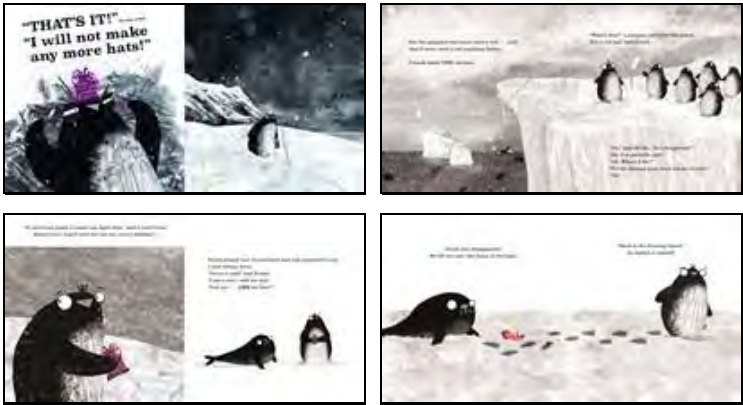

Contributor Bio

Elephants Can't Jump

A Mini and Milo Book

Venita Dimos, Natasha Curtin

Key Selling Points

- Mini and Milo navigate the ups and downs of friendship, with applied emotional intelligence at the heart of every story
- Adorable characters who learn from hilarious hit and miss, and always via their own agency, will appeal to all children
- Parents will love the "Big Skills for Mini People" as Mini and Milo model much-needed skills (even at an early age) such as conflict management, communication, and resilience
- The illustrations by Natasha Curtin immediately create characters, and a delightful world, that children (and parents) will love
- Free teaching guide available for download

Mini and Milo help children gain much-needed skills such as conflict management and resilience

Summary

When Mini's friend Milo gives her a trampoline for her birthday, Mini is upset. She even stops speaking to Milo.

Milo has no idea what is wrong—how could he? Mini realizes that talking about a problem is much easier than running from it.

Contributor Bio

Venita Dimos is an experienced lawyer, mediator, and coach. As a mother of three daughters, she is passionate about empowering children with the skills and resilience to navigate life's curveballs. Venita's books explore key life skills in a fun, humorous, and imaginative way.

Happy Together

Chloe Douglass

Key Selling Points

- Perfect for social and emotional learning collections
- Third book in a collection of stories of the trials and tribulations of The Band, a classic battle-of-the-bands tale, this time about the sweet appeal of fame and followers
- Cute read aloud for grown-ups and kids alike, packed with wry humor, silly alliterations, and puns galore!
- Loaded with easter eggs and jokes for music lovers and fans of pop music
- Channels some magical mystery vibes, with a Woodstock/Glasgow festival feel

This lighthearted story pokes fun at the allure of fame, how people prioritize fame over loyalty and friendship, and the importance of friends IRL

Summary

Fox is beyond excited! Fifi, FrouFrou, and Fluffy are part of the coolest, wildest, most famous band ever!

So when Fox stumbles upon a chance to play with them, how could he not? They have millions of followers, and everyone loves them! When a mishap during the show exposes The Bad Apples for who they really are, Fox is left to sing and play alone, and he realizes that fame is not all it's cracked up to be. Fox is so much happier with his band and his real friends, their voices joined in cool harmony.

Follow along with our fab group of musicians—Seagull, Bear, Duck, and Fox—through tricky friendship situations and uncomfortable moments like loneliness, envy and jealousy, authenticity, and popularity. This upbeat resource will educate littles on becoming comfortable with their own self and coping with any disharmony in their own band of friends.

We Are the Scrappy Ones

Rebekah Taussig, Kirbi Fagan

Key Selling Points

- #OwnVoices author and illustrator, both of whom have lived with disabilities since childhood
- In their Author's Note and Illustrator's Note, Rebekah and Kirbi share more about their personal histories
- Four sensitivity readers reviewed the text and illustrations to ensure accurate representation throughout
- Is a disability-centered picture book in the vein of I Am Enough by Grace Byers and I Am Every Good Thing by Derrick Barnes
- Rebekah is the author of the adult memoir Sitting Pretty: The View from My Ordinary Resilient Disabled Body

Summary

Children with disabilities experience the world in all kinds of ways. Yet one thing they share is navigating a world that doesn't always make space for them as they are. Existing on the edges can feel unfair—and downright exhausting. And at the exact same time, it can also foster creativity, resourcefulness, and adaptability. In a word, scrappiness.

Author and disability advocate Rebekah Taussig has written a groundbreaking anthem of belonging that celebrates the wide range of disabled children and affirms their worth, just as they are. Luminous illustrations by Kirbi Fagan portray a diverse cast of characters living, learning, and playing. A warm, joy-filled book for disabled and non-disabled readers alike.

Contributor Bio

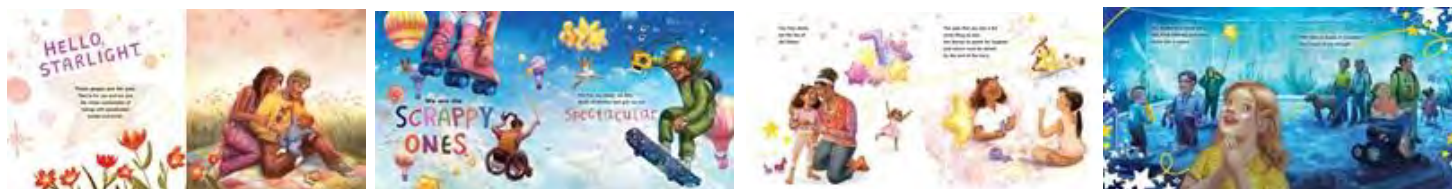

Rebekah Taussig has a PhD in Creative Nonfiction and Disability Studies from the University of Kansas and she writes personal stories about disability. Her memoir in essays Sitting Pretty: The View from My Ordinary Resilient Disabled Body was published by Harper One in 2021. She lives in Kansas City with her husband and young son.

Kirbi Fagan is a Michigan New York Best Selling illustrator. Her work includes the picture book The Summer of the Tree Army by Gloria Whelan (2021), We Are the Scrappy Ones (2025), as well as cover art in adult, YA, middle-grade, and comic books. Kirbi is driven to create books for readers like her. When she was growing up, arts and crafts were her lifeline as a way to cope with ongoing illness. Kirbi is traditionally trained as an oil painter, earning her bachelor's degree in Illustration from Kendall College of Art and Design.

The Library in the Woods

Calvin Alexander Ramsey, R. Gregory Christie

Key Selling Points

- A fictional story inspired by Calvin Alexander Ramsey's childhood and his older brother's love of books and the Negro Library in Roxboro, North Carolina
- Highlights the resourcefulness of the Black community during the Jim Crow era
- A tender and loving portrayal of Black family persevering through hardship
- Near the end of the book, Junior learns his father cannot read, and in the final scene, he sits with his father on the porch and reads aloud to him

A heartfelt tribute to the Negro Libraries that provided books to Black communities during the Jim Crow era

Summary

After a storm devastates the farm his parents have been renting, Junior moves with his family to Roxboro, North Carolina. The year is 1959, and the nine-year-old boy has to navigate the realities of the segregated South while adjusting to life in town. Instead of sharecropping, his father works at the lumber mill, and his mother takes in laundry from the white people in town. Junior meets new friends who have a TV—and their own books! These new friends offer to take Junior to the library, and he's surprised to discover that in a clearing in the forest, there's a log cabin with a sign over the door: The Negro Library.

The library in the woods feels magical, giving Junior a sense of possibility and community. The books he checks out also help him uncover a secret he never knew about his father.

This fictional account is based on a real-life library author Calvin Alexander Ramsey frequented as a child. Ramsey's heartfelt text, accompanied by stunning illustrations from award-winning artist R. Gregory Christie, celebrates family, libraries, and the resourcefulness of the Black community.

Contributor Bio

Calvin Alexander Ramsey is an Atlanta-based playwright, photographer, folk art painter, and children's book author. His plays have been performed across the United States and his picture books have won numerous awards including an ALA Notable Children's Book, a Jane Addams Children's Book Award Honor, and a Children's Book Committee at Bank Street College Best Children's Book of the Year. He is the father of three children, all of whom are writers.

R. Gregory Christie's illustrations have earned him many awards, including a Caldecott Honor, many Coretta Scott King Honors, and multiple spots on the New York Times' annual Best Illustrated Children's Books lists. He has been a guest speaker at conferences and libraries and teaches after school art programs all over the world. He lives in Georgia.

Twigs and Stones

Joy Cowley, Gavin Bishop

Key Selling Points

- A companion picture book to the much-loved, award-winning fiction series Snake and Lizard
- Themes of name-calling and crossing the line between joking and being mean resonate for families and schools
- Fun for children learning to spell and play with words
- Written by Joy Cowley, New Zealand's leading children's writer, and illustrated by the world-renowned artist Gavin Bishop

A funny, warm and wise picture book by world-renowned Joy Cowley and Gavin Bishop that captures the essence of friendship with a gentle reminder about being kind to others

Summary

Snake and Lizard live together in a burrow in the desert. They are such good friends that Lizard decides to display their names above the burrow entrance.

But three small words can cause trouble between friends.

They must decide whose name should appear first. Then Lizard makes an unfortunate spelling mistake—he thinks it's very funny but Snake is not laughing. Snake finds some spelling of her own that will teach Lizard a lesson!

The friends eventually find a way to put the argument behind them in this funny picture book that holds a mirror to our human flaws and reminds us that names and nicknames must be used with care.

Contributor Bio

Joy Cowley is one of New Zealand's best-loved writers. Her awards include the Margaret Mahy Medal; the NZ Post Children's Book Award 2006; the Roberta Long Medal, Alabama, USA; and the AW Reed Award for Contribution to New Zealand Literature. She is a Distinguished Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit.

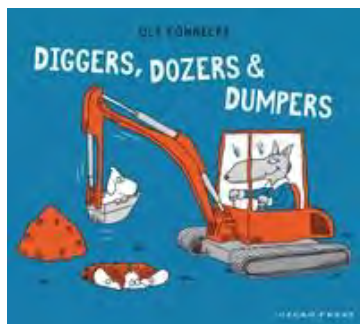

Gavin Bishop ONZM, Tainui, Ngati Awa, has published over 70 books internationally, translated into 12 languages. He has written for television and stage, as well as libretti for two children's ballets for the Royal New Zealand Ballet. He has earned many awards including the Te Waka Toi Nga Tohu a Ta Kingi Ihaka/Sir Kingi Ihaka Award in 2018, recognising his lifetime contribution to strengthening Maori art and culture through his children's books; The Arts Foundation's Mallinson Rendel Illustrators Award in 2013; and the 2000 Storylines Margaret Mahy Medal for lifetime achievement and his distinguished contribution to children's literature in New Zealand.

Diggers, Dozers, and Dumpers

Ole Könnecke

Key Selling Points

- An enormously popular topic including diggers, cranes, loaders, and big machines
- Original approach with engaging stories and funny animals
- Könnecke is a leading writer/illustrator with a knack for fiction/nonfiction hybrids that hook into children's interests

This original picture book about construction vehicles combines funny stories about animal engineers with facts and details for machine enthusiasts of all sizes

Summary

Learn about excavators, rollers, trucks, cranes, and loaders in this big book of more than a dozen heavy vehicles. And enjoy all the animals along for the ride.

When Cow wants to give a concert, she transports her piano with a telescopic crane. When Duck and Hen compete over who has the neatest lawn, hand mower leads to lawn mower to combine harvester—that ends the discussion! And what do rhinos like to make in their cement mixer? Pancakes, of course, and here's the recipe (beware, you'll need 32,304 eggs).

This entertaining picture book combines funny stories with a perennially popular topic. Explore details about engine size and vehicle weight, enjoy flights of fancy in a gyrocopter or cherrypicker, and end the book with a modern fairytale about a tractor that lives happily ever after.

Contributor Bio

Ole Könnecke was born in 1961 and spent his childhood in Sweden. He now lives in Germany and has produced more than 30 books, several of which have won international awards.

The Fierce Little Woman and the Wicked Pirate, 2nd Edition (2nd Edition)

Joy Cowley, Miho Satake

Key Selling Points

- A warm family and love story with an independent female lead
- Themes of independence and relationships; strength and vulnerability; family
- One of Joy Cowley's bestselling picture books with fresh contemporary illustrations for a new young audience

An unconventional love story with a strong female lead and a pirate with a sensitive side, written by New Zealand's leading children's writer and illustrated by one of Japan's foremost children's illustrators

Summary

This enduring tale of independence and family is an unconventional love story with a strong female lead and a pirate with a sensitive side, written by New Zealand's leading children's writer and illustrated by one of Japan's foremost children's illustrators.

The fierce little woman lived in a house at the end of a jetty. She knitted socks in blue and green wool to sell to sailors who had got their feet wet. But when there were no ships at her jetty, she was quite alone.

One stormy day, a pirate came to the house on the jetty. He stood on his toes, and starting tap-tap-tapping on the window...

After a battle of words through the jetty trapdoor, these two windswept heroes find they are suited after all in a warm story of a carefree family.

Contributor Bio

Joy Cowley is one of New Zealand's best-loved writers. Her awards include the Margaret Mahy Medal; the NZ Post Children's Book Award 2006; the Roberta Long Medal, Alabama, USA; and the AW Reed Award for Contribution to New Zealand Literature. Skunk! Skedaddle!

Peter Bently, Laurie Stansfield

Key Selling Points

- A raucous tale with a lesson to not judge others at its heart
- Features an upbeat rhyming text
- Children learn what it might be like to be someone who's unwelcome in a new place
- Gloss cover with matte highlights

A fabulously funny story with a lesson that skunks don't always stink

Summary

Nobody wants to be friends with a smelly skunk, but Sally is desperate to show the townspeople that she would never let off a stink around friends.

When she bumps into the town robber, it's time to show everyone how useful her stink can be! Multi-award-winning author Peter Bently teams up with illustrator Laurie Stansfield to teach us not to judge a skunk by its stink!

Panda and Penguin Find a Thing

Zehra Hicks

Key Selling Points

- A first introduction to how a phone can be exciting but needs to be used with care
- Perfect for teaching children how to share and that nothing is more important than a good friend
- Cover has a matte finish with spot gloss

A funny and playful tale that cautions against letting a phone cause problems between friends, for the very youngest children

Summary

When a mystery device comes between two best friends, will they learn to share or decide they're better off without it at all?

Panda and Penguin are best friends . . . until they find the Thing. The Thing is exciting—it has a flashing screen and makes funny ringing noises—but only one of them can play with it at a time. The Thing comes between them, but is anything worth losing their friendship?

Children and adult readers alike will immediately recognize the Thing as a phone. This lighthearted lesson highlights that while technology is flashy and entertaining, it can also be isolating.

Alberta and Little Red Riding Wolf

Margaret Sturton

Key Selling Points

- In this fairy tale twist, the wolf gets to teach the lesson: that bad behavior has consequences
- Leaves the reader with an open ending to predict the outcome
- Cover has a matte finish with graining

This cautionary tale is a twist on the traditional story of Little Red Riding Hood

Summary

Alberta does dreadful things, and she always gets her own way.

So when she doesn't listen to her mother's good advice and enters the wild and dangerous woods, it's no surprise that she tricks a kind stranger and eats their delicious cake. But this stranger is a wolf, wearing a red cape and hood, and she doesn't take kindly to being double-crossed. Will Alberta learn a lesson she will very much regret?

Contributor Bio

Margaret Sturton studied Fine Art Sculpture and subsequently gained an MA in Children's Book Illustration at the Cambridge School of Art. Margaret's mixed ethnic heritage inspires her exploration of identity and belonging. She is based in Hampshire, UK.

All by Myself (But Sometimes I Need a Little Help!)

Elizabeth Everett, Shelley Hanmo

Key Selling Points

- Celebrates independence and promotes self-confidence and self-esteem
- Shows father-son and mother-son bonding
- Montessori-inspired
- Beautiful cut paper artwork throughout
- Features an Asian and Black interracial family
- Created by an Asian author and illustrator
- Perfect fit for Asian-American Heritage Month (May)

A young child celebrates activities that he can do alone and also with help

Summary

I can do many things all by myself, but sometimes I need a little help.

A young child boasts about all the new things they can do such as stack blocks, connect two puzzle pieces, and put on their shoes. When it comes time to build a castle, complete a full puzzle, or tie their laces, they may have to ask for help. And that's okay!

Elizabeth Everett channeled her experience as a teacher to pen this empowering story, and Shelley Hanmo used vibrant and fun cut paper art to bring a child's favorite activities to do (with help!) to life.

Contributor Bio

Elizabeth Everett spent 16 years as a classroom teacher before venturing into writing. She currently lives in Colorado with her family where they love spending time outdoors.

Shelley Hanmo is a self-taught freelance illustrator and paper artist based in Indianapolis, Indiana. She specializes in creating children's book cut paper illustrations and editorial designs.

The Fearless Storyteller

Cassie Silva, Ana Zurita

Key Selling Points

- Highlights ESL families, single parents, and immigrant parents
- Raises literacy awareness
- Shows father-daughter bonding
- Demonstrates positive visualization practices
- Perfect fit for National Literacy Month (September)

A girl realizes that her dad struggles to read her bedtime stories

Summary

When a young girl's father is scared of the unicorns in her book, she hides it to protect him.

At the next bedtime, she selects a book about giraffes, which are much less scary. Right? Wrong!

After her dad helps her overcome a fear of her own, he reveals that he is scared of the words in her books, not the animals. Together the father and daughter use positive visualizations to overcome their fears.

Based on Cassie Silva's own experience growing up with an ESL (English as a second language) parent, this story is a love letter to all the ESL and illiterate parents and grandparents who get asked to read children bedtime stories.

Contributor Bio

Cassie Silva is an author of multiple children's books and a social worker of Portuguese heritage living in Vancouver, Canada. Cassie loves volunteering, books, cats, and ice cream.

Ana Zurita lives in Spain. She was born by the sea in Valencia, where she completed her studies in Fine Arts. She is a big fan of the beach in winter, the color yellow, the smell of old books, and heavy blankets. She has illustrated many picture books.

Saif's Special Patches

Humera Malik, Ravan Sader

Key Selling Points

- Social and emotional learning component—coping with shyness
- Shows parent-child and sibling bonding
- Features a Muslim family and elements of the Ramadan holiday
- Perfect fit for South Asian Heritage Month (July 18 - August 17)

A boy realizes that he's more than just shy after receiving a custom patchwork quilt of his milestones

Summary

Saif is "just shy," or at least that's what everyone tells him. When his mom comforts him with a patchwork quilt made of his special memories, he remembers that he's so much more.

He was brave when he went down the biggest slide at the Eid picnic. He was smart when he won the scavenger hunt among his friends. He was persistent when it took him a year to learn to read the Quran. He's helpful when he lends a hand to clean up the mosque.

Saif isn't just shy. Like his patchwork quilt, he is still growing.

Contributor Bio

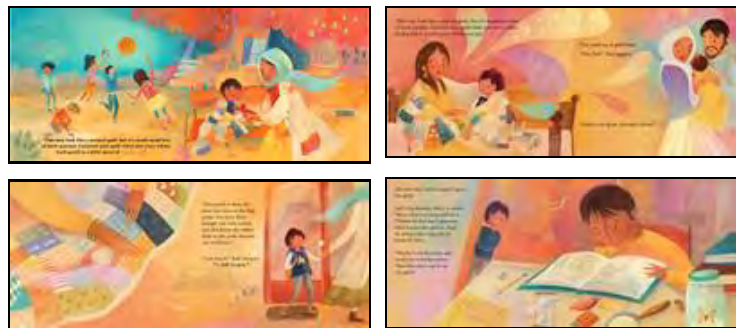

Humera Malik is a teacher-turned-writer of Muslim faith and Pakistani roots. She enjoys bringing to life relatable characters that celebrate her South Asian heritage and culture. She currently resides in Arlington, Virginia, with her husband and three children.

Ravan Sader is an artist and book illustrator based in Amman, Jordan, who loves creating fun, adventurous characters. Ravan designs imaginary worlds, narrates visual stories, and enjoys painting.

Whisper to the Rescue

Rose Robbins

Key Selling Points

- Deals with the theme of responsibility for the environment, specifically forest fires
- Empowers quieter children to think and act and believe in themselves
- Shows the usefulness of creativity—here the use of pictures—to help with communication
- Matte finish on jacket and cover

A picture book about courage, cooperation, and environmental stewardship

Summary

Whisper is a quiet dragon who notices everything.

When he sees that his family's fires are damaging their forest neighborhood, he knows he must persuade them to change their ways. But nobody will listen to him. How will he get his message across? It will take all of Whisper's resourcefulness and courage—and some help from his friends—to save the mountainside in time. This sweet and empowering picture book is about making oneself heard and taking care of our environment.

- Textured cover with embossing and high production values
- Shares with young readers the delight of discovering nature
- Final book in the four-book In the Garden series

A boy and a bee turn their mutual fear into friendship

Summary

A boy is playing in the garden when he is startled to find a bee in a box.

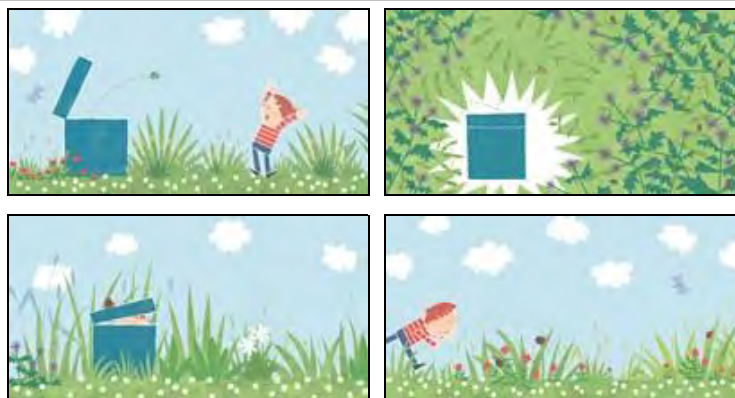

He chases the bee, but the bee turns the tables by chasing the boy, who then hides in a box. After a while, the boy gets bored. He searches for the bee, and before long, the two are fast friends!

This charming story is about making friends, not only with bees but with the natural world in which we live. The beautiful illustrations are teeming with many plants and other insects to discover and befriend.

The Bear Who Had Nothing to Wear

Jeanne Willis, Brian Fitzgerald

Key Selling Points

- Written in verse, which is a delight to read aloud
- Children will love all the dress-up outfits, recognizing we each have agency to create our own identity
- Confidence boosting as Albie eventually discovers that he prefers to be himself
- Covers days of the week and different professions
- Gently points at sustainability versus consumerism

A humorous picture book about dressing up and claiming one's own identity

Summary

There once was a bear who had NOTHING to wear, and normally, teddy bears don't really care, / They're happy to dress how you want them to dress, but Albie was not, I am bound to confess.

Each outfit that Albie purchases—from fairy to pirate, from cowboy to elegant city gent—proves unsuitable in some way, and by the end of the week, his bedroom is heaped with discarded clothes. How will he dress in order to feel like himself?

A Card for My Mom

Bashabi Fraser, Maanvi Kapur

Key Selling Points

- Perfect pick for a Mother's Day read
- Celebrates mothers who are less well-represented in mainstream media
- Draws on Indian culture, clothing, cuisine, and traditions
- #OwnVoices story by author of British-Indian heritage
- Cover finished in an attractive grain texture

A lively, inclusive picture book about identity and belonging that joyfully celebrates moms and motherhood

Summary

It is Mother's Day tomorrow, and the shops are sparkling with lights and gifts, with people, laughter, and excitement—looking for the perfect gift to bring a smile of joy to moms at home.

Among the candles and balloons, the orchids and chocolate hearts, one young girl searches for a card that features a mom who looks like hers. Her mom has gold bangles that jingle-jangle when she washes the curry pots. Her mom wears silk kameez when she buys papaya at the market. Her mom has dark eyes that flash when she dances the bhangra. What will the little girl do if she can't find a card with a mom who looks like hers?

This is a lively, inclusive picture book about identity and belonging that joyfully celebrates moms and motherhood.

The Playdate

Uje Brandelius, Clara Dackenberg

Key Selling Points

- Moving portrayal of socioeconomic differences between families
- Shines a welcome spotlight on under-valued professions such as cleaning
- Multilayered, with the text telling one story, the illustrations another
- Perfect tool for prompting discussions about childhood poverty and social inequality
- Cover finished in an attractive grain texture

A powerful story about friendship across economic divides

Summary

For one little girl, the prospect of a playdate at her friend Henry's house fills her with excitement.

She really likes Henry. He even has a funny dog. And although she and her mother have to take a bus, then the subway, then change to another line, then a bus, and then walk for a while, it's worth it because Henry's house has millions of rooms to hide in and hundreds of toys to play with.

But while the text tells one story, the illustrations slowly reveal another. As the kids tear around the house enjoying each other's company, their moms experience the playdate very differently. Soon we find that the little girl and her friend Henry live lives that are poles apart.

This compelling story encourages readers to question why we live in a society where those who have and those who have not live very different lives.

Contributor Bio

Uje Brandelius worked as a journalist and press secretary in Sweden before becoming the frontman of chart-topping pop band Doktor Kosmos and touring sold-out concert venues for several years. The Playdate is his first picture book.

Clara Dackenberg is a Swedish illustrator and visual artist. She studied in Gothenburg and Stockholm before debuting as a picture book illustrator. Her work has been chosen for the Contemporary Swedish Illustrators exhibition at the Bologna Children's Book Fair.

Mr. Darcy the Dancing Duck

Alex Field, Peter Carnavas

Key Selling Points

- A great tool for introducing children to Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice in an accessible manner
- Encourages compassion and empathy
- Introduces the tradition of dancing (especially British maypole dancing) with the arrival of spring
- Pride, family life, tolerance, and different lifestyles are key themes

Pride and Prejudice for a young audience, retold with . . . ducks!

Summary

With a furrowed brow, Mr. Darcy waddled around his garden. Mr. Darcy enjoyed waddling: but dancing?

Mr. Darcy dreads the first sign of spring. Flowers blooming means only one thing—dancing season, and Mr. Darcy simply cannot dance. What does it take for a proud duck to use his dancing feet? Can Lizzy convince Mr. Darcy to take a turn around the maypole? This delightful introduction to some of Jane Austen's infamous characters includes stunning watercolors from award-winning illustrator Peter Carnavas.

Contributor Bio

Alex Field began her career by writing numerous articles for print and online media. She has since published multiple children's books. Her love of Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice inspired this fluffy reimagining of Mr. Darcy.

Baking Up Love

Alan Page, Kamie Page, David Geister

Key Selling Points

- Page Education Foundation creates picture books focused on diversity and inclusion
- An endearing intergenerational story
- Includes a recipe for Mississippi Mud (chocolate cupcakes) in the backmatter

A heartwarming story about embracing memories of a loved one through baking

Summary

Esther and her mom are supposed to bake cupcakes after school this afternoon for tomorrow's Literacy Feast.

But when Esther arrives home, her mom is still at work, and she finds Grandpa snoozing in his favorite reading chair. "Grandpa! Wake up!" Grandpa reassures a doubtful Esther that he does in fact know how to bake, a skill he learned from Esther's late grandmother. Grandpa and Esther bake, dance, and sing, filling the kitchen, and their hearts, with Grandma's special ingredient—love.

Get Dressed, Belly Button!

Lucie Brunellière

Key Selling Points

- A simple, interactive idea where adult and child share the experience
- A companion book to Good Night, Belly Button
- Introduces words for clothes and parts of the toddler's body
- Cheerful language and sound effects turns a routine into a fun ritual with a shared dressing game

Each page turn of this novelty board book adds a new piece of clothing—toes in socks, arms in t-shirt, tuck that belly button inside!—until the child is wrapped up warm and ready to go

Summary

It's time to go out, so let's get dressed: tug snug, wriggle jiggle into socks, t-shirt, shoes and finally, all wrapped up in a big coat.

Page by page, child and adult put the clothes on together until everyone is ready.

Wait—what else do we need before we can go out? A great big kiss!

Now we're dressed, from top to tummy to toes!

Get Dressed, Belly Button! is a cheerful and original book that turns wrapping up warm into a game for the whole family.

So Tired, So Wide Awake

Susanne Strasser

Key Selling Points

- Funny refrain and cumulative story builds anticipation and makes a fun read-aloud
- Theme of "one more thing before sleep" resonates with children and parents
- This successful board book series has enduring sales in many languages with growing recognition around the world

In this funny sleep book for wide-awake children (and tired parents) one animal after another leaves the bed for a last goodnight kiss—only a cheeky surprise gets them back to bed at last

Summary

It's bedtime. Hedgehog, Fox, Donkey, Pelican and Crocodile are so tired! But Seal needs to use the bathroom—slip slap slip, out the door. Crocodile forgot to clean those sharp teeth—shlurf shlurf, out the door. And Pelican is thirsty . . .

One by one the animals climb out of bed, until everyone is piled in the child's bed for a last goodnight kiss. Oof, that's a heavy pile! What happens now?

Susanne Strasser's snowballing animal stories that children love are bestsellers in multiple languages. This funny in-and-out-of-bed story ends with a timely fart joke to start the fun all over again.

Contributor Bio

Susanne Strasser studied communication design and illustration in Munich and London. She is the author and illustrator of many successful picture books, including this bestselling series of board books about animal friends. She lives with her family in Munich.

A young Black girl has hair that magically changes when she discovers her inner power

Summary

Shimmer, sparkle, twirl . . . I am a caring girl.

Little brothers can be such a pain! Especially when they get special treatment. Can Imani put her jealousy aside to help out her family?

Contributor Bio

Cicely Lewis is a school librarian with a passion for creating lovers of reading based in Georgia. In 2017, she started the Read Woke challenge in response to the shootings of young unarmed black people, the repeal of DACA, and the lack of diversity in young adult literature. She was named the 2020 National Librarian of the Year by School Library Journal and Scholastic, a 2019 Library Journal Mover and Shaker and the 2019 National Teacher Award for Lifelong Readers by the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) and Penguin Random House (PRH).

Anastasia Magloire Williams is an illustrator, storyteller, and graphic designer living in sunny Florida. It is her passion to paint colorful adventures, reveal important history, and tell untold stories that reflect the diverse world we all share. Just like in the book Wild, Wild Hair, she had a complicated relationship with her big Afro as a child. But with the help of her amazing stylist Okeya, she has learned to love her magical hair!

A young Black girl has hair that magically changes when she discovers her inner power

Summary

Shimmer, sparkle, twirl . . . I am an ambitious girl!

After Imani sees the trash that litters her local beach, she decides to organize a clean up. But everyone she tells about it doubts that she can make a difference. Can Imani prove them wrong?

Contributor Bio

Cicely Lewis is a school librarian with a passion for creating lovers of reading based in Georgia. In 2017, she started the Read Woke challenge in response to the shootings of young unarmed black people, the repeal of DACA, and the lack of diversity in young adult literature. She was named the 2020 National Librarian of the Year by School Library Journal and Scholastic, a 2019 Library Journal Mover and Shaker and the 2019 National Teacher Award for Lifelong Readers by the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) and Penguin Random House (PRH).

Anastasia Magloire Williams is an illustrator, storyteller, and graphic designer living in sunny Florida. It is her passion to paint colorful adventures, reveal important history, and tell untold stories that reflect the diverse world we all share. Just like in the book Wild, Wild Hair, she had a complicated relationship with her big Afro as a child. But with the help of her amazing stylist Okeya, she has learned to love her magical hair!

Summary

Max is the only kid in class without a best friend.

Lucky for him, there's a new kid in school, but after Max makes a bad first impression, he is going to need a second chance to befriend Shiv. While Max's games usually keep his Super Fidgets at bay, this one is all about showing Shiv what a great friend he would be. After the game leads to terrible second, third, and fourth impressions, Max learns that making new friends is not about playing games but about being yourself.

The Pinchers and the Curse of the Egyptian Cat

Anders Sparring, Per Gustavsson

Key Selling Points

- A proud family of thieves and reluctant hero
- A fully illustrated, funny and fast-paced first chapter book for beginning readers
- This story selected as best children’s book of the year by one of Sweden’s biggest newspapers
- This lively and funny bestselling series has sold over 300,000 copies in Sweden, translated into 10 languages

In this slapstick, illustrated crime adventure, the honest Theo Pincher, who doesn’t fit in to his family of criminals, finds himself on the other side of the law because of an ancient curse

Summary

In this slapstick, illustrated crime adventure, the honest Theo Pincher, who doesn’t fit in to his family of criminals, finds himself suddenly on the other side of the law because of an ancient curse.

Theo and Ellen accidentally break an ancient cat statue in the antique store. When they tell their mother, Nic, she turns pale. It must have been the statue that ruined the life of their ancestor Nab Pincher!

The curse of the Egyptian cat turns thieves into honest people and honest people into thieves. Nab met a terrible fate for a Pincher—he became a police officer. Now suddenly Ellen can’t lie and Theo is becoming a criminal.

Digger

Dig or Die!

Deborah Cholette, Davide Ortu

Key Selling Points

- Features multi-ethnic characters
- Models teamwork and perseverance
- Includes well-researched science facts with sources included
- Deals with the effects of climate change

An easy-to-follow dystopian novel about siblings working together to survive an environmental disaster

Summary

In this dystopian middle-grade novel, a climate change disaster forces humanity to flee as Earth's atmosphere escapes into space.

Narrated by siblings Nick and Lily, the story follows their resourcefulness in aiding neighbors. Nick's digging prowess and Lily's strategic planning become vital as oxygen diminishes. Nick unveils a hidden tunnel connecting houses, forming a lifesaving network as breathable air dwindles. Lily crafts a communication system with walkie-talkies and baby monitors to share critical information. A frantic race ensues to complete the tunnels before food and oxygen become scarce, a tense battle for survival in a world teetering on the brink.

Second Chance

A Baseball Buddies Story

Aaron Derr, Matt Rowe

Key Selling Points

- Author is a former editor at Sports Illustrated for Kids and of Boys Life Magazine
- Multicultural and mixed-gender team represented in illustrations

For fans of Matt Christopher, this is a heartwarming story about baseball, confidence, perseverance, and being a good teammate

Summary

The Manatees are finally having fun this baseball season under new captain Luis.

Embracing teamwork, they welcome troubled players Ty and Savannah, hoping to give them a second chance after they were kicked off a former team. Can the Manatees learn to accept the newcomers? Can they teach Ty and Savannah to be good teammates? And can they all work together to beat the best team in the league, the Dragons?

Baseball Buddies stories explore the power of working together, accepting differences to build a team, and the lasting friendships that form when given a chance.

The Friend Dilemma

Laura Wiltse Prior, Marta Kissi

Key Selling Points

- Centers around a middle class Black family
- Demonstrates self-awareness and acceptance
- Highlights friendship

A spunky young girl learns how to be confident in her own skin

Summary

Emma's topsy-turvy summer led her to eagerly anticipate reuniting with friends Lily and Amelia for familiar activities.

However, when they meet before third grade begins, unexpected changes occur: Lily becomes a ballerina, Amelia loses interest in science, and they both enjoy hanging out with Emma's younger brother Little. Determined to restore their bond, Emma tries to impress them during the school bus ride. But as third grade unfolds, the differences keep coming. Will Emma's plans to fix her friendships work, or has she created another "dilEmma"?

Contributor Bio

Laura Wiltse Prior is a middle grade author who loves cookie dough, reading, and tennis. She lives and writes in Connecticut with her husband and three kids, the inspiration for her stories.

The Pecan Sheller

Lupe Ruiz-Flores

Key Selling Points

- Mexican American protagonist and Mexican American author
- Centers on the real 1938 pecan shellers' strike in San Antonio, Texas, a groundbreaking event in labor organizing history
- Author conducted interviews with pecan shellers from this era as part of her research
- Author based some of Petra's experiences on those of her grandmother, who worked in a pecan factory

A powerful and personal glimpse of a little-known historical turning point through one girl's struggle to carve out a life of her choosing

Summary

In 1930s San Antonio, thirteen-year-old Petra dreams of going to college and becoming a writer.

But with her beloved father dead, two younger siblings to care for, and with a stepmother struggling to make ends meet, Petra has to drop out of school to shell pecans at a factory. Hoping it's only temporary, she tries not to despair over the grueling work conditions. But after the unhealthy environment leads to tragedy and workers' already low wages are cut, Petra knows things need to change. She and her coworkers go on strike for higher wages and safer conditions, risking everything they have for the hope of a better future.

"Heart-warming and enraging in equal parts, this important American story reveals the power of family, community, and hope."—Laurie Halse Anderson, New York Times bestselling author

The Girl Who Couldn't Lie

Radhika Sanghani

Key Selling Points

- Disarmingly funny yet heartwarming, with gently delivered life lessons
- Compassionate portrait of complex family dynamics, including cultural factors in parents' reluctance to divorce and concern about appearances
- Vibrantly drawn multiethnic cast of characters (much hinges on a friend's bat mitzvah), vetted by sensitivity readers
- Fun and original hints of magic in the power of the bangle

A humorous and heartfelt story of tween growing pains enlivened with a pinch of magic

Summary

Priya lies a lot. She tells her friends everything's fine at home when in reality, her parents argue constantly. She tells her parents everything's great at school even though Katie Wong's bullying her. She tells her gymnastics coach she'll happily do whatever it takes to win the upcoming championship, despite being secretly sick of the constant training. She figures this is the only way to avoid disappointing or upsetting others.

Priya's grandmother, who died a year ago, was the only person who knew the real her.

When Priya puts on a bangle that her grandmother left her, she suddenly finds herself incapable of telling a lie. She can't get the bangle off, so she can't stop spilling truths—some that mortify her, some that get her into trouble . . . and some that actually change her life for the better. Can she learn to be honest without hurting the people she loves?

Contributor Bio

Losing the Plot

Annaleise Byrd

Key Selling Points

- Perfect for kids who prefer their comedy action-packed, their epic adventures brimming with magic, and their fantastical stories jam-packed with laughs
- A middle-grade take on Jasper Fforde's Thursday Next series (The Eyre Affair and Lost in a Good Book)
- For fans of Adam Gidwitz, David Walliams, and Jaclyn Moriarty

A hilarious and witty fractured fairytale which lands two readers (one avid, one reluctant) immersed in Hansel and Gretel—literally!

Summary

To save the football team, Basil Beedon is roped into listening to reluctant reader and star footballer Terry Clegg read fairytales out loud. Every. Single. Saturday.

But when Terry brings over a battered copy of The Complete Fairy Tales of the Brothers Grimm and haltingly begins reading Hansel and Gretel, the pair find themselves transported inside the book, having fallen through a plot hole.

They meet Gretel, who can't stop crying, but only because she "is written that way," and endeavor to help find Hansel (who is stuck in a bottle). The bureaucratic world is run by FANCY (the Fairytale Alliance Network of Character Unions), where Gretel is part of the subset SUPER FANCY (Stereotypical Unempowered Princesses and Extraneous Royalty). She and the boys are accused of breaching SLIP and SLIDE (Safety Laws of Interworld Portals/ Secrecy Laws of Interworld Demystification Experiences). Using a combination of Basil's bookishness and Terry's sporting skills, the boys must outwit their opponents, as Basil realizes he has always underestimated princesses, and Terry realizes that books are growing on him!

Scout and the Rescue Dogs

Dianne Wolfer, Tony Flowers

Key Selling Points

- From renowned, award-winning author Dianne Wolfer
- A moving, hopeful, heart-warming, and timely story set against the 2019-20 Australian bushfire season
- Engaging narrative featuring life on the road in rural Australia—especially on the east coast between Victoria and New South Wales
- Endearingly illustrated by Tony Flowers—a passionate illustrator and lover of dogs
- Themes include volunteering, animal rescue, animal welfare, natural disaster, climate change, and grief

A celebration of community, adventure, kindness, and, above all, dogs!

Summary

The summer holidays have finally arrived, and Scout can't wait for her adventure in the big rig with Dad.

After Mom died, life hasn't been the same. But now Dad and Scout are on a mission to deliver donations of dog food to animal rescue shelters right across the state. There will be lots of music, dad-jokes, and a brilliant plan that will make sure everyone's got a friend for the holidays. There might even be a special four-legged friend in it for Scout. But Scout and her dad get more than they've bargained for. It's bushfire season—and it's not just the dogs who need rescuing . . .

This moving, hopeful, and heartwarming story is set against the 2019-2020 Australian bushfires.

Evie and Rhino

Neridah McMullin, Astred Hicks

Key Selling Points

- Hicks' illustrations indicate a change in perspective in a subtle and refined way, matching McMullin's stunning prose
- Based on a true event
- Contains interesting facts about Australian and other native animals and fauna
- Features themes of loss, grief, overcoming adversity, animal rights, and zoos vs. nature
- Includes an apple pie recipe in the back matter

An engaging and moving tale about love, connection, and the healing power of friendship

Summary

A young girl with a tragic past and a rhinoceros facing life in captivity form an unlikely and magical bond after a fateful storm and a shipwreck bring them together.

On a stormy night off the coast of southern Australia in 1891, a ship transporting a cargo of exotic animals tosses and turns in enormous seas, and a young rhino cries out in fear.

A few miles inland, ten-year-old Evie and her grandfather shelter in their crumbling, once-grand old home. After the devastating storm that killed Evie's parents and the resulting grief that left Evie mute, they know too well how deadly storms can be. When all is calm, Evie treks down to the water and makes an extraordinary discovery—a discovery that will change her life, and Rhino's, forever.

Evie and Rhino is an engaging and moving tale about love, connection, and the healing power of friendship.

Twelve-year-old Nutty juggles the pressures of lots of changes, all while planning the ultimate bat mitzvah

Summary

Natalie (Nutty to her friends) knows turning twelve is a big deal.

Even though she doesn't like change AT ALL, she's prepping for:

- a) having the best bat mitzvah party anyone has ever been to
- b) graduating from elementary school, and
- c) (hopefully) getting a boyfriend.

But there's even more headed Nutty's way that might change everything, like her parents running out of money and selling her childhood home, along with the reassuring family smell. Or when her best friend no longer feels like a girl and wants to leave the bat mitzvah group altogether. It seems only Natalie can keep her family, her friendships, and her party from falling apart.

Set in Sydney, Australia, this hilarious and heart-warming debut tackles how to get back up when it feels like the world has knocked you down.

The Red Car to Hollywood

Jennie Liu

Key Selling Points

- Features a Chinese American protagonist; written by a Chinese American author
- Will appeal to fans of Malinda Lo's Last Night at the Telegraph Club (set in 1950s San Francisco) and Stacey Lee's Kill Her Twice (set in 1930s LA)
- Explores cultural and gender-related expectations with sensitivity and offers a period-accurate yet affirming resolution
- Depicts the drama and tensions of the silent film era, including the relationship between Hollywood and LA's Chinatown
- Anna May Wong (1905–1961) has received renewed attention and appreciation in recent years as a complicated but important Asian American pioneer in film

A journey of self-discovery set in the vibrant, drama-filled era of early Hollywood

Summary

Los Angeles, 1924

Sixteen-year-old Ruby Chan considers herself a modern, independent American girl. But when her secret relationship with a white boy implodes—and then is revealed to her very traditional Chinese parents—she's in a tough spot. Horrified that Ruby's reputation is at risk, her parents hire a matchmaker to find her a Chinese husband. Ruby is determined to foil their plans. But how?

Meanwhile, Ruby meets the nineteen-year-old film star Anna May Wong, one of her neighbors in LA's Chinatown. The girls quickly strike up a friendship. Anna May defies Chinese convention by working as an actress on the silver screen, and she scoffs at white people's assumptions about her. If she can forge her own path, surely Ruby can too.

Not everything is as it seems, though. Danger and betrayal lurk amidst the new possibilities. To build the life she wants, Ruby will have to contend with how others see her—and decide if she's ready to truly see herself.

Sometimes the Girl

Jennifer Mason-Black

Key Selling Points

- Wraps a suspenseful literary mystery in an exploration of meaty questions about writing, fame, identity, and integrity
- Offers nuanced queer rep and sensitive treatment of complex topics (drug addiction, suicide, depression)
- Savvy readers will recognize echoes of Harper Lee (whose To Kill A Mockingbird is still frequently assigned in high schools) in the complicated character of Elsie

A poetically written and thought-provoking coming-of-age journey exploring the messiness of relationships, art, and truth

Summary

Eighteen-year-old Holiday needs to sort her life out.

She's still shaken from her brother's recent suicide attempt; still pining over her ex, Maya; and still struggling to write again after a long dry spell. To earn enough money for a rebalancing trip with Maya, Holi gets a short-term job: organizing the attic of acclaimed author Elsie McAllister. It's an unglamorous gig with a difficult boss. Elsie—whose fame rests on a single novel published decades ago—is in her nineties, in failing health, and fiercely protective of her privacy. But as Holi sorts through the attic's surprising contents, she realizes there's much more to Elsie than the novel that made her a legend.

Unearthing Elsie's secrets will change how Holi sees art, life, and the way they intertwine, as she grapples with choices that will redefine her own path.

Raised by Wolves

Jennifer Lynn Barnes

Summary

From the bestselling author of The Inheritance Games comes a reissue of an exciting paranormal adventure. With a heroine that rivals Buffy, Raised by Wolves will leave you howling for more.

Adopted by the alpha of a werewolf pack after a rogue wolf brutally killed her parents right before her eyes, fifteen-year-old Bryn knows only pack life and the rigid social hierarchy that controls it. That doesn't mean that she's averse to breaking a rule or two. But when her curiosity gets the better of her and she discovers Chase, a new teen locked in a cage in her guardian's basement, and witnesses him turn into a wolf before her eyes, the horrific memories of her parents' murders return. Bryn becomes obsessed with getting her questions answered, and Chase is the only one who can provide the information she needs. But in her drive to find the truth, will Bryn push too far beyond the constraints of the pack, forcing her to leave behind her friends, her family, and the identity that she's shaped?

Trial by Fire

Jennifer Lynn Barnes

Summary

In this reissue of the thrilling sequel from the NYT bestselling author of The Inheritance Games, there can only be one alpha.

Bryn is finally settling into her position as alpha of the Cedar Ridge Pack—or at least, her own version of what it means to be alpha when you're a human leading a band of werewolves. Then she finds a teenage boy bleeding on her front porch. Before collapsing, he tells her his name is Lucas, he's a Were, and Bryn's protection is his only hope. But Lucas isn't part of Bryn's pack, and she has no right to claim another alpha's Were. With threats—old and new—looming, and danger closing in from all sides, Bryn will have to accept what her guardian Callum knew all along. To be alpha, she will have to give in to her own animal instincts and become less human. And she's going to have to do it alone. Bryn will have to face both the costs and the rewards of love and loyalty.

Jennifer Lynn Barnes

Summary

From the popular BookTok author of The Inheritance Games comes a reissue of the third and final fast-paced installment in the popular Raised by Wolves series, called "the most compelling YA werewolf series out there" by New York Times best-selling author Melissa Marr.

A rogue Were is killing humans, and Cedar Ridge is the center of the crisis. Bryn, human alpha of the Cedar Ridge pack, must meet with the Senate to deal with the problem. Though the subject is the rogue wolf, Bryn knows the other packs want what she has: Her territory. Her females. Her pack. They want her death. She could never survive a battle with another alpha, so she'll have to keep her wits about her as she navigates the fine line between helping the Senate and hurting her chances at keeping her lands, protecting her pack, and surviving.

Summary

Rory is a talented and dedicated softball player.

The only distraction in her life is her father's decline due to ALS, but he remains her biggest supporter. But softball plans get a lot more interesting when mainlander Shanti comes to stay with her grandparents for the summer—and the two fall into a fast romance. Between her pitching aspirations, her father's health, and trying to date Shanti, Rory's focus may be spread too thin. With pressure building on all fronts, will she choose the game or the girl? With support from Shanti and her softball team, Rory learns that sometimes you have to make tough decisions about what you care about most.

Angel Jendrick is the author of Secret Me (Lorimer, 2023) and an expert at creating vivid, passionate romances. Line Drive to Love is a heartfelt love story that is perfect for those navigating competitive sports and their queer identity.

Summary

Jordan and Nathan couldn't be more different, but when order and chaos collide, opposites attract.

Jordan is a bit of an oddball at school. He likes rules, routine, old sci-fi novels, and is often the victim of his bully's torment. When new student Nathan joins the school, he wears down Jordan's walls and, with his love, empowers Jordan to stand up for himself.

Nathan's parents are going through a divorce, and at a new school in a new city, Jordan provides him with the stability he can't find at home. Through their friendship and eventually their romance, Jordan embraces his newfound self-confidence and proclaims his love for Nathan in front of the school. Each is just what the other needs.

Not Not Normal shows readers that sometimes the qualities we need most can be found in and learned from the friends around us. We just need to let them in. Embracing your differences and facing the unknown can be scary, but with true friends and support, there is nothing you can't handle.

Contributor Bio

Peter Fenton writes LGBTQ2S+ romance and mystery novels that are proudly set in Canada, including The Woodcarver's Model and the Declan Hunt Mysteries series. Peter is also a playwright. He lives in Toronto, Ontario.

Summer with Sunil

Allison Lister

Key Selling Points

- Stories feature high school students facing issues related to relationships
- High/low romance novels will appeal to reluctant readers
- Addressing questions encountered by today's teens when it comes to dating, friendships, and identity
- #OwnVoices authors

Finally a series that explores realistic love in all forms, shapes, sizes, and sexualities! A relatable look at teen romance

Summary

Sometimes love can be found in the most surprising places . . .

In Allison Lister's second Lorimer Real Love novel, two kids on holiday, both sure they must be the only queer people for miles, find each other, and sparks fly.

Dominic, a trans teen, is stuck on vacation in sleepy coastal Nova Scotia with their parents, all summer, with no other company. Sunil is all alone in a rented beach house while their dad is off hanging out with his new girlfriend. A chance encounter with Sunil on the beach catches Dominic by surprise, and all of a sudden, their summer doesn't look so bleak.

What follows is a vivid, romantic story full of self-exploration and the gauzy haze of summer love.

Lister's dynamic, realistic characters and the authenticity of their connection are set against the vivid backdrop of Nova Scotia's Atlantic coast.

Contributor Bio

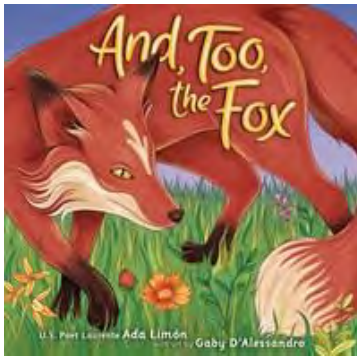

Allison Lister is an enby (non-binary) author who has been writing realistic and romantic adult LGBTQ+ fiction as Elizabeth Lister, and currently as AE Lister, for over ten years. They are a partner, parent, and sibling, with lots of life experience to draw upon. They live in Ottawa, Ontario with their partner and two children.

Picture book creator turned debut graphic novelist Anne Lambelet presents a fun, factually robust look at some of the most gifted creatures under the sea

Summary

Meet Grumpy! He's a dumbo octopus, and he's taking us on a tour of the whole cephalopod class—underwater creatures such as cuttlefish, nautilus, octopuses, and squids.

Grimpy knows all about what makes these many-armed marvels so special, like how the coconut octopus uses tools or the cuttlefish talks with color! It seems like every creature has a special ability—except him. When Grumpy gets stuck on everything a dumbo octopus can't do, the other cephalopods show him why it's great to be a dumbo.

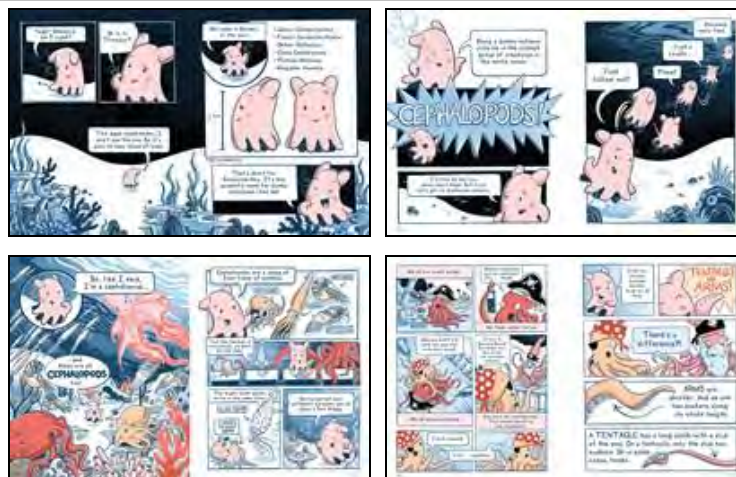

Contributor Bio

Anne Lambelet earned a bachelor's degree in illustration from the University of the Arts in 2014 where she was awarded the Roger T. Hane award for the top illustration portfolio by a senior. She currently lives in Philadelphia with her husband Brice, her adorable dog, Eevee and her morbidly obese (but also adorable) cat, Fitzgerald.

Faiza Is a Fighter

Debasmitta Dasgupta

Key Selling Points

- Showcases life in northern India
- Boxing/sports interest
- Features an intergenerational family and single parent
- Includes themes of overcoming bullying and positive self-talk

A South Asian girl in India overcomes adversity to compete in a boxing tournament

Summary

Faiza wants to win the biggest boxing tournament in town. When the odds are stacked against her, will she be able to achieve her dream without the presence of her biggest supporter?

Life in hilly northern India is not easy. Every day, Faiza has to scale the mountains to reach her school or to fetch water from the stream. Faiza doesn't have many friends or relatives who believe in her, but her dream of being a world champion boxer and the support of her only parent, her dad, and her grandma keeps her going.

When her dad's travel is delayed due to a landslide, she has to enter the boxing tournament without her coach and support system. Will she give up or forge out on her own? Sometimes your biggest cheerleader is the voice inside of you. Fight, Faiza, fight!

Take a Hike!

And Other Ways to De-Stress and Relax in Nature

Kate Chynoweth

Key Selling Points

- Published in partnership with the National Wildlife Foundation
- Kids who play outside are more physically active, more creative in their play, less aggressive, and show better communication
- 60 minutes of daily unstructured free play is essential to children's physical and mental health
- The most direct route to caring for the environment as an adult is participating in "wild nature activities" before the age of 11

With a mixture of inspirational text and practical tips, this tween-friendly handbook shows kids that nature is Earth's anti-anxiety cure!

Summary

With a mixture of inspirational text and practical tips, this tween-friendly handbook encourages kids to seek out nature for health benefits and planet protection.

Kids who spend more time in nature benefit in mind, body, and spirit! And likewise, they benefit the Earth. This guide explains the powerful connection between us and our planet and shares practical tips and fun activities anyone can do to get outside and soak up nature. An advisory board of psychologists and nature conservationists infuses the book with expertise in kid-friendly ways. Stunning photography showcases nature as fun, mighty, beautiful, and just outside!

Science continues to show the healing benefits of nature for mental health, more important than ever in the midst of a post-pandemic world. This book is part of the Nature Smart program—a publishing partnership between Magination Press and the National Wildlife Federation. Together we hope to ease stress through a collection of books showing the benefits of nature for improving mental health, reducing stress, boosting self-esteem, and encouraging empowerment for people, communities, and the planet.

- A collection of hilarious, nonsensical, witty, and mischievous subjects—the best (and worst) advice for growing up

There is one sure-fire method to avoid being eaten by sharks: Don't go in the ocean.

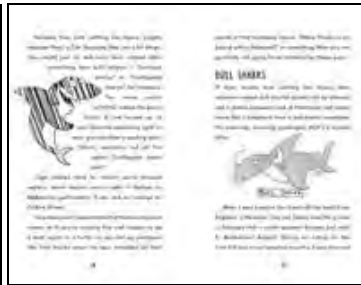

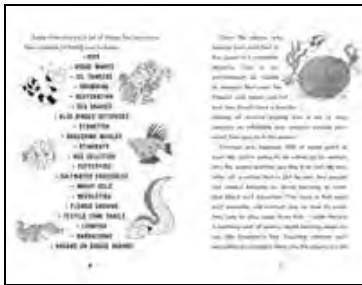

How can you avoid being eaten by sharks? What does it mean to "skateboard" someone? Is there a chance you could be abducted by aliens? Are there zombies hiding under your brother's bed? In this hilarious guide, John Larkin relates his tried and tested advice for navigating the mysteries of life, with a sprinkling of some of the facts and history he's discovered along the way. Accompanied by entertaining comic-style illustrations from Chrissie Krebs, this is an education not to be missed!

John Larkin is a multi-award-winning author. He is the writer-in-residence at Knox Grammar School, University of Technology Sydney, and All Saints Anglican School (Gold Coast).

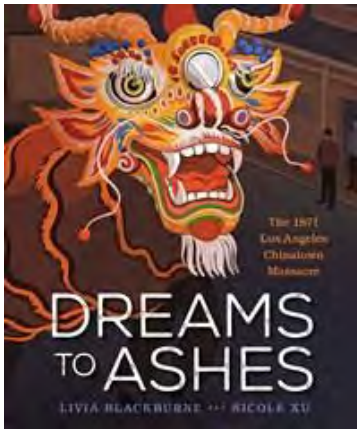

Chrissie Krebs is the author-illustrator of several picture books, including Pig in a Wig and There is Something Weird in Santa's Beard. Chrissie is living her inner four-year-old's dream and cannot believe she gets paid to draw pictures all day.

Dreams to Ashes

The 1871 Los Angeles Chinatown Massacre

Livia Blackburne, Nicole Xu

Key Selling Points

- #OwnVoices Chinese American author and illustrator
- Meets a need for more Asian American history
- A great fit for lessons on immigration
- Also ties in with lessons about the gold rush and perceptions of Chinese immigrants who came to the US seeking gold
- A Los Angeles memorial commemorating this event is expected to be complete in summer 2026

An essential moment in US history presented for the first time in a children's book

Summary

In the mid-1800s, a wave of Chinese immigrants traveled to the West Coast of the United States. They were following rumors of Gold Mountain, a land rich with treasure for all who came. When gold proved elusive, they began to seek their fortunes in other ways—as doctors and launderers, as cooks and musicians.

A number of Chinese immigrants settled in Los Angeles, California. It was a rough, occasionally lawless city, and newspapers routinely published anti-Chinese articles, fueling sparks of hatred. On the night of October 24, 1871, the city exploded in violence. In the ensuing massacre, eighteen Chinese men were killed, their dreams turned to ashes.

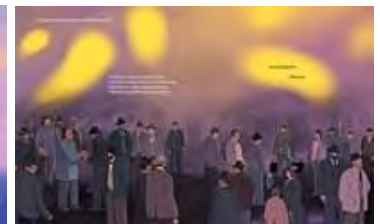

New York Times bestselling author Livia Blackburne and illustrator Nicole Xu illuminate a tragic episode in our nation's past in the hope that future generations can move toward a brighter tomorrow.

Contributor Bio

Livia Blackburne is a Chinese American writer who penned her first novel while researching the neuroscience of reading at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. She now writes full-time and is the author of several books including Midnight Thief (An Indies Introduce New Voices selection) and Feather & Flame (in Disney's Queen's Council series), as well as the picture book I Dream of Popo, which received starred reviews from Publisher's Weekly and Kirkus. She is based in California.

Nicole Xu is an artist who was born in Shanghai, grew up in Vancouver, Canada, and is now based in Portland, Oregon. She graduated from Rhode Island School of Design with a BFA in illustration and has worked with numerous magazine and publishing clients. Her work often explores themes of loss, healing, and empathy. Her debut picture book, All of A Sudden and Forever, Help and Healing after the Oklahoma City Bombing, written by Chris Barton, received two starred reviews and was an Orbis Pictus Recommended Book.

Kahofōlawe

The True Story of an Island and Her People

Kamalani Hurley, Harinani Orme

Key Selling Points

- Kaho'olawe is sacred to Native Hawaiians and is a physical form of the god of the sea, Kanaloa
- Illustrator Harinani Orme was able to visit Kaho'olawe while working on this book (with Protect Kaho'olawe 'Ohana)
- A great fit for Hawaiian Language Month (February), Earth Day (April), and AAPI Heritage Month (May)
- #OwnVoices Native Hawaiian author and illustrator
- Has an epic scope that will appeal to fans of Grand Canyon by Jason Chin

The epic story of the smallest Hawaiian island, which is sacred to Native Hawaiians

Summary

In the middle of the great Pacific Ocean is a little island. Her name is Kanaloa Kaho'olawe.

Discover the story of an island sacred to Native Hawaiians. Beginning with her birth in a volcanic eruption, Kaho'olawe thrives surrounded by animals on land and in the sea. When Polynesian voyagers arrive and begin to raise their families there, the island is happy. As the years pass, invasive goats devastate the ecosystem, and during World War II and the decades that follow, the US military claims the island for target practice. Kaho'olawe is hurt. Yet activists never give up on the island, and they finally succeed in reclaiming her.

Kaho'olawe endures.

Author Kamalani Hurley and illustrator Harinani Orme present the remarkable story of the smallest Hawaiian island, encompassing loss and erasure, sacrifice and dedication, and ultimately restoration, highlighting hope, resilience, and aloha 'āina (deep love of the land).

The author has pledged 100 percent of her proceeds from sales of this book to the Protect Kaho'olawe 'Ohana.

Contributor Bio

Kamalani Hurley is a kanaka maoli (Native Hawaiian) writer from Honolulu. She grew up in the working-class urban neighborhood of Pālama and is a proud graduate of the Kamehameha Schools. Kamalani's stories are rooted in her Indigenous community, and they invite readers to explore the islands' rich cultural traditions. An avid reader and gardener, she lives in Hawai'i with her family.

Harinani Orme is a Native Hawaiian artist who was born and raised in Honolulu, Hawaii. She earned a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree at the University of Hawaii at Mānoa and a Master of Fine Arts degree at the Pratt Institute in New York. Currently, her works focus on the myths, legends and traditions of old Hawai'i. She sees her works as an ongoing process of experimentation, harvestation and assemblage until the emerging images takes a life form of its own.

The Black Mambas

The World's First All-Woman Anti-Poaching Unit

Kelly Crull

Key Selling Points

- Author and photographer Kelly Crull traveled to South Africa to meet and photograph the Black Mambas
- The Black Mambas is a unique anti-poaching unit as the members are almost all women and do not carry guns
- Features charismatic animals including rhinos, giraffes, and pangolins

Join a patrol with the Black Mambas, South Africa's first women-led anti-poaching unit, as they work to protect the amazing animals in a nature reserve

Summary

Head out on patrol with the Black Mambas, South Africa's first women-led anti-poaching unit.

This anti-poaching team is unlike any other: they carry no weapons. Instead, they keep animals safe with frequent patrols and a keen eye for footprints, snares, and other clues that poachers are nearby. These courageous women work in a nature reserve in South Africa's Greater Kruger National Park. The reserve is home to the largest remaining populations of white rhinos, critically endangered black rhinos, and ground pangolins, one of the most trafficked animals in the world.

Author and photographer Kelly Crull traveled to South Africa to see firsthand how the Black Mambas are making a difference—for animals and for their communities. He tells their incredible story from their perspective, giving readers an unforgettable look at these environmental heroes.

A portion of the proceeds from this book will be donated to the Black Mamba Anti-Poaching Unit.

Contributor Bio

Kelly Crull is an author, illustrator, and photographer. His work includes Washed Ashore: Making Art from Ocean Plastic which was selected for the Texas Topaz Nonfiction Reading List and nominated for the Keystone to Reading Book Award. Kelly's lively school visits have been known to include reenactments of the Running of the Bulls and La Tomatina, the world's largest food fight. Crazy fiestas like these happen every day in Spain where he lives with his wife and three children.

Sharks Unhooked

The Adventures of Cristina Zenato, Underwater Ranger

Patricia Newman, Becca Hall

Key Selling Points

- Back matter includes a note from Cristina herself and a link to video footage of Cristina removing a hook from inside a shark's mouth
- Has a strong environmental message about protecting sharks, which play a critical role in ocean food webs
- Highlights a strong woman who forged her own path, following what she loves
- Will appeal to fans of books like The Shark Lady by Jess Keating

A riveting picture book bio about an incredible woman who dives with sharks—and removes fishing hooks from their bodies

Summary

Some people are scared of sharks. Not Cristina Zenato.

As a little girl, Cristina dreamed of making friends with the sharks deep in the ocean. When she grew up, she made those dreams come true, becoming a diver, conservationist, and shark advocate. But Cristina discovered that sharks—the sleek, strong, powerful guardians of the ocean—need our help. She started diving in a protective suit and, as she built trust with sharks, they began coming to her with fishing hooks stuck in their bodies. Did she have the courage to remove the hooks?

Sharks Unhooked is the true story of how one woman is exploring the ocean, helping our ecosystem, and forming incredible bonds with animals beneath the rolling surf.

Contributor Bio

Patricia Newman wants us all to know we are part of nature. As a Robert F. Sibert Honor recipient, she shows us how our actions ripple around the world, empowers us to find our own connections to nature, and encourages us to use our imaginations to act on behalf of our communities. Her nonfiction titles have received multiple starred reviews, Orbis Pictus Recommended Awards (NCTE), Green Earth Book Awards, and several Eureka! Awards. She is based in California.

Becca Hall graduated from Manchester School of Art in 2014, where she received a First Class Honours Degree, and the Alumni award for illustration. Afterwards she began working as a freelance illustrator and artist. She now lives in Cornwall with her two dogs.

Mysterious Creatures That May or May Not Exist

Kelly Milner Halls, Rick C. Spears, Roxyanne Young

Key Selling Points

- Best-selling title now in paperback
- Lots of high-interest appeal
- Includes a cryptidictionary of all creatures mentioned in the book and a reality index rating for each

A fun look at creepy creatures, perfect for curious kids

Summary

Everyone loves stories of cryptids.

These mysterious creatures have been hiding—some of them for centuries—from the seeking eyes and minds of top scientists, cryptozoologists, and everyday folks. And along the way, some surprises have come about.

Hoaxes have been exposed, such as the Fiji mermaids, really only man-made statues of monkey heads and fish tails. Mysteries have been solved, such as the "extinct" prehistoric fish, the coelacanth, living in the deep oceans near Africa. But most cryptids remain hidden.

Learn more about Mokele-mbembe (Africa), Kongamato, Shunka Warak'in, Mapinguari (South America), Megalodon, Chupacabra, and Mothman from both cryptozoologists and experts who strongly believe they do not exist.

In the dark forests, high mountains, and murky waters around the world, could there be a Bigfoot, a Yeti, or a Loch Ness Monster?

Contributor Bio

Kelly Milner Halls is a full-time children's writer, specializing in quirky topics for reluctant readers. Kelly lives in Washington with her two daughters, one dog, too many cats, and a four-foot rock iguana.

Rick C. Spears is an artist and author who has always been fascinated with dinosaurs. After college that Rick rekindled his love of prehistory and began to fancy himself a paleoartist. Since then, his artwork has found its way into museum displays, books, magazines, and even a board game. Rick resides in Georgia with his wife, Darlene, who patiently tolerates all this dinosaur/monster/alien stuff as a part of everyday life.

Roxyanne Young is an author and photographer currently based in San Diego, California. She teaches writing to adults and elementary students.

Twist, Tumble, Triumph

The Story of Champion Gymnast Ágnes Keleti

Deborah Bodin Cohen, Kerry Olitzky, Martina Peluso

Key Selling Points

- The true story of Hungarian-Jewish Champion Gymnast Ágnes Keleti
- The story of a resilient and determined young woman who survives the Holocaust
- An inspiring story of a female athlete who won 10 Olympic medals

Even during the war, Gymnast Ágnes Keleti never gave up on her dream, and ultimately triumphed at the 1952 Olympics

Summary

Doing gymnastics, Ágnes Keleti feels free—until the day her coach tells her there's a new law in Hungary barring Jewish athletes from the gym. Once Germany sends soldiers into Budapest, they are impossible to ignore and Ágnes hatches a plan. With identity papers from a Christian woman, she goes into hiding in a small farming village. She does housework for a family who support the Nazis, but she never stops dreaming of the day she will be able to compete at the Olympics.

Where Are the Women?

The Girl Scouts' Campaign for the First Statue of Women in Central Park

Janice Hechter

Key Selling Points

- Perfect fit for National Girl Scout Week, March 9-15, 2025, and Women's History Month in March
- Features girl empowerment for good
- Based on a true event with cooperation from the Girl Scouts profiled in the story

A true story of young girls taking action to represent women's contributions to history

Summary

When a group of New York City Girl Scouts learn in 2016 that there are no statues of women in Central Park, they organize and combine forces in a quest to change that shocking fact.

The girls raise funds, spread awareness, provide testimony, and convince city officials to erect the first monument of women in Central Park. What started out as a discovery on a field trip turns into a four-year process of not giving up or giving in. This powerfully true story chronicles how young girls made a significant impact through unity and perseverance.

"An inspiring story of passion and perseverance."—Diana Mahoney, CEO Girl Scouts of Connecticut

"Where Are the Women? presents colorful settings of determined Girl Scouts, their energy and steady progress, a great gift for kids and parents alike. The goal, the Women's Rights Pioneers statue, inaugurated in 2020, a century after women won the right to vote."—Nancy Scott, Professor Emirita, Brandeis University

"I love this book! It's perfect for both girls and boys—and their parents. It makes the women in the monument colorfully come alive for all of us."—Brenda Feigen, American feminist activist, film producer & lawyer, former VP of NOW, co-founder of Ms. Magazine

Shirley Chisholm

Champion of Change

Tonya Allen, Chasity Hampton

Key Selling Points

- Celebrates Black history
- Inspires and empowers young people to be leaders
- Cultivates critical thinking
- Encourages civic engagement

An inspiring series that celebrates diverse leaders and empowers young readers to make a positive impact in their communities

Summary

Shirley Chisholm was a shero, a born leader, and a pioneer for women and Black people in America.

She was an educator in her early career and later entered politics, becoming the first Black woman elected to the United States Congress, the first woman to run for the Democratic Party's nomination, and the first Black candidate to seek a major party endorsement. In 2015, she was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom posthumously. Shirley Chisholm was a difference maker who inspired and paved the way for other women, especially Black women, to become difference makers too. Her legacy lives on in the halls of Congress, in classrooms, and in the hearts of those she continues to inspire.

Indigenous Language Revitalization

From Boarding Schools and Code Talkers to Immersion Learning

Katrina M. Phillips

Key Selling Points

- Each title is written by a Native author and carefully reviewed by content consultants
- Critical thinking questions engage readers to think deeply about topics covered
- Books feature an infographic or map to further reader comprehension

Explore how Native peoples are reclaiming their rights and celebrating their heritage

Summary

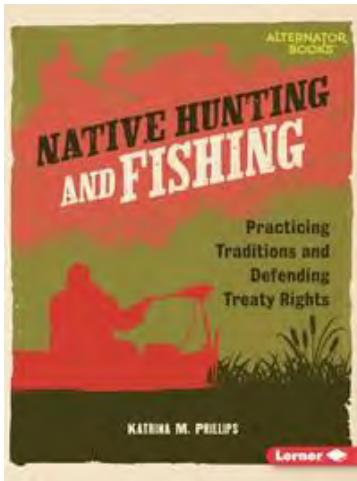

Indigenous languages have a mixed history in the United States. Many Native languages have become endangered. In the 1800s, the US government began forcing Native children to attend federal Indian boarding schools. There, children were punished for speaking anything other than English. But during the two World Wars, the US military asked Native American soldiers to create unbreakable codes in their Native languages. Indigenous languages help explain cultural practices, keep ceremonies alive, and teach Indigenous peoples about their histories and their ways of life. Today, Indigenous nations use immersion camps and schools to revitalize their languages.

Practicing Traditions and Defending Treaty Rights

Katrina M. Phillips

Key Selling Points

- Each title is written by a Native author and carefully reviewed by content consultants
- Critical thinking questions engage readers to think deeply about topics covered
- Books feature an infographic or map to further reader comprehension

Explore how Native peoples are reclaiming their rights and celebrating their heritage

Summary

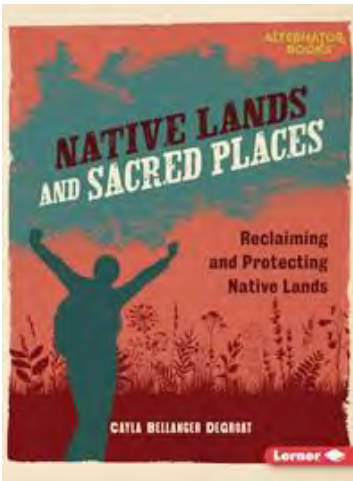

Indigenous Nations historically provided for their families and their communities by hunting, fishing, farming, and gathering. In the 19th century, the US government often forced Native Americans to sign treaties that ceded lands while protecting Indigenous rights to hunt and fish on those lands. But the United States government has not always upheld these treaties. Find out how Native nations continue to defend and exercise their rights today.

Native Lands and Sacred Places

Reclaiming and Protecting Native Lands

Cayla Bellanger DeGroat

Key Selling Points

- Each title is written by a Native author and carefully reviewed by content consultants
- Critical thinking questions engage readers to think deeply about topics covered
- Books feature an infographic or map to further reader comprehension

Explore how Native peoples are reclaiming their rights and celebrating their heritage

Summary

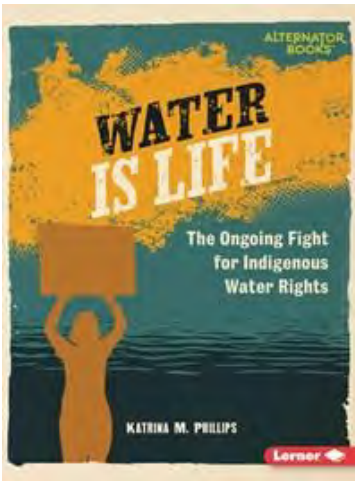

For Native nations and peoples, land is sacred. It is a valued and respected part of their spiritual and religious beliefs. Some locations hold even more meaning such as burial sites, places for ceremonies, and areas where medicines grow. When Europeans began colonizing the land that would become the United States, Native nations were forced from the lands they lived on. Many nations no longer had access to sacred sites. Discover how Native peoples are reclaiming their ancestral lands with the Land Back movement.

Water Is Life

The Ongoing Fight for Indigenous Water Rights

Katrina M. Phillips

Key Selling Points

- Each title is written by a Native author and carefully reviewed by content consultants
- Critical thinking questions engage readers to think deeply about topics covered
- Books feature an infographic or map to further reader comprehension

Explore how Native peoples are reclaiming their rights and celebrating their heritage

Summary

For many Indigenous peoples, water is sacred. Indigenous peoples have lived by important water sources throughout their histories. But in the 1800s, treaties with the US government and people settling in the West forced many Indigenous peoples to leave their homelands, to leave their water sources, and to move onto reservations. Indigenous peoples continue to stand for their communities in talks about water sources. From protesting dams and oil pipelines to improving access to clean water, Indigenous peoples fight for their water rights and to protect their homelands.

Speaking on Climate

A Guide to Speechwriting for a Better Future

Rune Kier Nielsen

Key Selling Points

- From established government speechwriter and UN Climate Action Communication Coordinator Rune Kier Nielsen
- Engaging guide for readers with and without prior speechwriting knowledge or experience
- Breaks down and explains rhetorical concepts in accessible sections with relevant, real-world examples

A timely guide on climate rhetoric from an established speechwriter

Summary

What makes a good speech? Better yet, what makes an effective speech? And how can an effective speech help in the fight against climate change? Climate change is a pressing issue, and the ability to successfully communicate about it is crucial in working against it. Social anthropologist and professional speechwriter Rune Kier Nielsen breaks down nine common flaws of climate rhetoric and how to fix them in this thorough, engaging guide to speechwriting toward climate justice.

Contributor Bio

Rune Kier Nielsen is a social anthropologist living in Denmark. He has worked as a government speechwriter for mayors in the Danish Capital of Copenhagen, the Danish Ministry for Climate and Energy as well as the Ministry for the Environment. He's won two of the prestigious Cicero Speechwriting Awards while also writing for activists and idealists as part of the Danish Climate Movement and TEDx. He is currently the Climate Action Communication Coordinator for the United Nations Environment Programme—the UN's authoritative voice on the environment.

An inside look at high-tech competitions for fans of sports and STEM topics

Summary

Drone soccer is an exciting new aerial sport! Engines buzz and colored lights flash as drones zoom through the air, trying to block and dodge each other. The plastic balls clash as teams clear a path for their striker to try to fly through the hoop to score points. But be careful! One crash too many and the drone is out of the game.

Who Brought the Hamantaschen?

Marcia S. Gresko, Steve Mack

Key Selling Points

- A board book celebrating Purim
- Introduces colors for the youngest readers
- Purim is March 14, 2025

It's a Purim party with fruit of all colors to eat—and hamantaschen of course!

Summary

In this concept board book that also teaches colors, cute kids celebrate the holiday of Purim. Lily, in her red Queen Esther costume, brings red apples to the Purim party. Leo, dressed as a yellow hamantaschen, brings yellow bananas, and Eli, in his King Ahashverosh costume, brings purple plums. But who brought the hamantaschen to the Purim party?

Contributor Bio

The Elephant and the Purim Crown

Haviva Kierzenblat, Rebeca Luciani

Key Selling Points

- Demonstrates the Jewish value of kindness to animals
- Shows a tender friendship between a girl and an elephant
- A Purim story set in Burma inspired by the author's mother's memories
- Purim is March 14, 2025

Rachel wins the gold Purim crown, but it turns out the greatest treasure is an old elephant that has touched her heart.

Summary

Rachel thinks she will feel like Queen Esther when she rides an elephant draped in fancy fabric through the streets of Rangoon. Then she notices the old elephant's bruised and cracked feet, and she doesn't feel so royal. So when Rachel wins the gold Purim crown at the synagogue celebration, she has an idea about how she can help the elephant. Inspired by the author's mother's memories of growing up in the Burmese Jewish community.

Contributor Bio

Haviva Kierzenblat spent many moons with her elephant loving grandfather, steeped in stories of Sephardic life in Rangoon, Burma. Haviva loves antique French paper dolls, botanical gardens, cooking curries, and being an awesome auntie. She lives in San Marino, California.

Rebeca Luciana is an Argentinian illustrator, now living in Spain. Her books have won the Premi Crítica Serra d'Or prize, the Açorianos prize for Best Book of the Year, and the Premi Junceda.

Happy Passover, Edie Rose!

Joy Preble, Valeria Cis

Key Selling Points

- Celebrates an intergenerational friendship between an older woman and a child
- Shows the power of community and neighbors working together
- A contemporary take on the themes of the Passover story
- Passover is April 12-20, 2025

When her neighbor gets hurt right before Passover, Mia finds a way to save the holiday seder

Summary

Mia loves the Passover seder at Edie Rose's apartment. All the neighbors sit around the table, talking about the journey from slavery to freedom. On Mia's birthday, Edie Rose gives her a rhinestone tiara and a map of the world. "You never know what journey might call your name," she says. When Edie Rose falls and breaks her arm, Mia looks at her map and wonders: Could a journey to help her neighbor be calling right now?

Contributor Bio

Joy Preble loves to write for children, teens, and even grown-ups. She also loves Jewish holidays, especially Passover, where, like Edie Rose, she hosts the best seders ever! Happy Passover, Edie Rose! marks her picture book debut. You can find more of Joy's books at joypreble.com

Valeria Cis lives in Argentina with her family. She studied fine art at the University of Humanities and Arts in Rosario, Argentina. Her recent books include A Heart Just Like My Mother's and Bubbe's Belated Bat Mitzvah.

Zayde Babysits before Passover

Jane Sutton, Kate Chappell

Key Selling Points

- A sweet story celebrating the relationship between a little girl and her grandfather
- Shows a family preparing for Passover from a child's perspective
- Passover is April 12-20, 2025

Zayde is babysitting Ruthie before the Passover seder, but who exactly is babysitting whom? It's Zayde's first time babysitting by himself and shenanigans ensue.

Summary

Passover starts tonight and Zayde is babysitting for Ruthie—his first time by himself! Mommy has left a list of things to do: Buy parsley at the grocery store for the seder plate, go to the playground so Ruthie can use up energy, then use up more energy at home because seders last a long time. And be sure Ruthie takes a nap. But who exactly is babysitting whom as an afternoon of shenanigans ensue?

Contributor Bio

Jane Sutton is an award-winning author of picture books and novels for children. She grew up on Long Island and attended Brandeis University. Jane lives with her husband in the Boston area, as do their grown children and families. She is grateful to get lots of chances to babysit her grandchildren and hopes she makes fewer mistakes than Ruthie's Zayde.

Kate Chappell is an illustrator from North East Lincolnshire, UK. She graduated from Falmouth University with a degree in Illustration, and has since worked with a variety of publishers internationally.

Passover on Everest

Rachelle Burk, Craig Orbach

Key Selling Points

- Exciting and true story
- Note from Cheryl and Nikki Bart at the end of the book
- Combines Passover, Jewish spirituality, and a real-life adventure story

The true story of how a Jewish mother and daughter climbed and celebrated Passover atop Mount Everest

Summary

The two things Nikki loves most are huge family holiday gatherings and huge mountains. This year, she is forced to choose between them.

In this true story about kindness across cultures, Jewish mother-daughter mountain climbing team Cheryl and Nikki Bart experience a seder like no other—seder on Mt. Everest, the highest mountain in the world! Initially Nikki expected they would spend their Passover huddled with strangers on an icy slope with only a bit of matzah to mark the holiday. Then came a very special surprise! An inspiring note from Cheryl and Nikki is included at the end.

Contributor Bio

The See-You-Soon Spice Box

Pamela Ehrenberg, Gabby Grant

Key Selling Points

- An intergenerational story about the relationship between a boy and his great-grandma
- A story about connecting with loved ones far away over video calls
- Explains the meaning of Havdalah, the ceremony that ends the Jewish sabbath on Saturday night

Silas and his great-grandma celebrate Havdalah together over a video call. It's like saying to Shabbat, "See you soon!"

Summary

Silas and Great-Grandma Faye always end their video calls with "See you soon!" Great-Grandma Faye says that Havdalah, which separates Shabbat from the rest of the week, is like saying "See you soon!" to Shabbat. She shows Silas a spice box made by his great-grandpa, who used to say, "Havdalah is the time between Shabbat and ordinary days, when we get to feel both kinds of magic at the same time." Great-Grandma Faye suggests she and Silas make Havdalah together over the internet until they can be together again. Silas makes his own spice box. When Great-Grandma Faye finally comes to visit, they say Havdalah with both spice boxes.

Contributor Bio

Pamela Ehrenberg's previous picture books include Queen of the Hanukkah Dosas and Planting Parsley. Her middle-grade novel, Detour Ahead was a National Jewish Book Award finalist. She and her children live in Washington, D.C.

The Secret Recipe

Ilan Stavans, Taia Morley

Key Selling Points

- Explains the history of the Ladino language spoken by Sephardic Jews
- Shows a loving relationship between a grandmother and grandson
- Shows how food and cooking are integral to culture, and includes a recipe for bourekas

A boy and his Abuela are making bourekas, and Abuela is using words from the Ladino language that the boy is eager to learn

Summary

"Una merenda azeremos," Abuela says to her grandson. "But I don't understand," says the boy. "It means 'we will cook together' in our secret language," says Abuela. That evening, Mamá explains that the Spanish Jews took the Ladino language with them when they were forced to leave their homelands in Spain and Portugal during the Inquisition. "Can I learn the secret language?" the boy asks.

Shabbat on Mars

Jeff Ward, Gila von Meissner

Key Selling Points

- Answers kids' questions about what Shabbat might really be like if we celebrated it on Mars
- Combines super-fun Jewish questions and true scientific answers based on all the latest research and theories
- Written by a rocket scientist who is married to a rabbi

A Jewish Magic School Bus, predicting what Shabbat might really look like on Mars

Summary

What would it be like to celebrate Shabbat on Mars?

From baking challah to playing Shabbat afternoon games, young scientists get to experience what Shabbat might look like after people land on the Red Planet. Full of fun, zany illustrations, this exciting and informative middle grade nonfiction book compares Shabbat on Earth with Shabbat on Mars, making predictions about a future Martian Shabbat based on the most current scientific ideas. And it was written by a real rocket scientist!

The Mitzvah Fairy

Danielle Joseph, Christine Battuz

Key Selling Points

- Shows a boy—with a crown, wings, a wand, and a big heart—eager to help everyone around him
- Explains what mitzvahs are and that doing good deeds is a Jewish value
- A story about a father and son performing small acts of kindness

A boy dressed as a fairy, with wings and a wand, spreads joy every day by performing mitzvahs (good deeds)

Summary

The Mitzvah Fairy wakes up early to spread joy. He fluffs his wings. Then he grabs his crown and wand. First stop: Bubbe and Zayde's house. Bubbe has the sniffles so the Mitzvah Fairy swoops in with chicken soup. "This will make you feel better, Bubbe," he says. Next, he zooms over to his neighbor's garden where he waters the plants and fills the birdfeeder. At the end of a busy day, the Mitzvah Fairy has one more thing to do—give his dad a great big hug. An author's note matches up the mitzvahs in the story with Jewish values.

Contributor Bio

Danielle Joseph is the author of numerous picture books and young adult novels, including the award-winning picture book I Want to Ride the Tap Tap. She was born in Cape Town, South Africa and now lives in Maryland with her family and dog Ringo. Danielle believes in the power of kindness and spreads joy wherever she can.

Christine Battuz studied drawing and painting in Italy. Her many illustrated children's books include Something New for Rosh Hashanah. Working internationally, she speaks both English and French. She lives in Quebec.

Nine Stories of Child Survivors of the Holocaust

Amanda Friedeman, Kelley Szany

Key Selling Points

- First-person narratives of the Holocaust are increasingly rare and valuable as survivors age and pass away
- Interviews have been lightly edited for clarity and accessibility to young readers, while preserving the survivors' voices
- Digestible format offers a snapshot of key information at the top of each profile, indicating similarities and distinctions among various survivors' experiences
- Factual sidebars throughout main text and a back-matter glossary provide additional information and context

Inspiring personal stories of Holocaust survivors whose childhoods were shaped by the horrors of the Holocaust—and who went on to build new lives in America

Summary

In some ways, Adele, Barney, Eric, Ernie, Frank, Judy, Magda, Rodi, and Ruth had little in common. They were born in different European countries and came from different family backgrounds. But they were all Jewish children who survived the Holocaust each in a different way—from hiding with non-Jews to surviving the horrors of a concentration camp. They prove themselves remarkably resilient as, in their own words, they each share their childhood experiences and describe how they rebuilt their lives after the end of World War II. They also reflect on the principles that have guided them and on their hopes for the future.

A fun, fast-paced baseball game . . . with dinos as the players!

Summary

Cuando los Medias Verdes come-plantas se enfrenten a los Ojos Rojos come-carne, el baseball nunca volverá a ser el mismo.

Empatados a cero, el juego es un duelo de lanzadores hasta que el furioso entrenador de los Medias Verdes se enfrenta hocico a hocico con el árbitro dodo y es expulsado. ¡Los Medias Verdes responden con sus bates de fuerza vegetal y anotan tres carreras! Los Rojos toman la iniciativa antes de la séptima entrada y llegan igualados al inicio de la novena. ¿Este juego se irá a entradas extras o será Apatosaurus el héroe del día?

When the plant-eating Green Sox face the meat-eating Rib-Eye Reds, baseball will never be the same. Tied zip to zip, the game is a pitchers' duel until the Green Sox's hothead manager goes snout to snout with the dodo umpire and gets tossed out. The Sox respond with their veggie-powered bats and score three runs! Momentum swings back to the Reds before the seventh inning stretch, and they're all tied up in the bottom of the ninth. Will this game need extra innings, or will Apatosaur save the day? Now in Spanish.

Summary

Cuando los Veguis come-plantas y los Mordedores come-carne saltan al campo de juego, es hora de un enfrentamiento de proporciones prehistóricas.

Diplodocus muestra el toque sutil de los herbívoros y anota primero para los Veguis. Pero Gallimimus recibe un pase de uno de los gemelos Pterodáctilos y remata, igualando el marcador para los Mordedores.

En el segundo tiempo, Apatosaurus anota el gol de la ventaja para los come-plantas, pero tras una trifulca les muestran tarjetas rojas a jugadores de ambos equipos. Hambriento por empatar el partido, Allosaurus de los Mordedores no falla. Ahora, empatados a 2, los equipos se preparan con dientes apretados y garras afiladas para los minutos finales. . .

When veggie-nibbling Grazers and meat-munching Biters take to the soccer field, it's a showdown of prehistoric proportions. Diplodocus shows an herbivore's soft touch and strikes first for the Grazers. But Gallimimus takes a pass from the twin Pterodactyls on the wings and finishes it off to even things up for the Biters. In the second half, Apatosaurus scores the go-ahead goal for the veggie-side, but then a brawl results in red cards for both teams. Hungry to tie the game, Biter Allosaurus takes advantage. Now it's 2-2, setting up the teeth-gnashing, claw-curling final minutes. . . . Now in Spanish.

La roca en mi garganta (The Rock in My Throat)

Kao Kalia Yang, Jiemei Lin

Key Selling Points

- From the #OwnVoices author of the acclaimed picture books A Map into the World, The Most Beautiful Thing, and From the Tops of the Trees
- Is a mirror for children experiencing selective mutism and a window book for other children
- Stunning illustrations by Jiemei Lin, in her debut picture book
- Author's note is a very moving reflection about how and why Kalia became a selective mute and how she eventually found her voice
- Will resonate with fans of the book I Talk Like a River

A powerful true story about the author's own experiences with selective mutism in school.

Summary

At first, no one noticed when I stopped talking at school.

In this moving true story, Kao Kalia Yang shares her experiences as a young Hmong refugee navigating life at home and at school. Having seen the poor treatment her parents received when making their best efforts at speaking English, she no longer speaks at school. Kalia feels as though a rock has become lodged in her throat, and it grows heavier each day. Although the narrative is somber, it is also infused with moments of beauty, love, and hope. Now in Spanish.

Contributor Bio

Kao Kalia Yang is a Hmong American writer, teacher and public speaker. Born in the refugee camps of Thailand to a family that escaped the genocide of the Secret War in Laos, she came to America at the age six. Yang holds degrees from Carleton College and Columbia University. Her work has won numerous awards and recognition including multiple Minnesota Book Awards, a Charlotte Zolotow Honor, an ALA Notable Children's Book Award, the 2023 Asian/Pacific American Award for Literature, Dayton's Literary Peace Prize, and a PEN USA Award in Nonfiction.

Jiemei Lin is an artist born in Hangzhou, China, currently living and working in the Inland Northwest, Washington State. Lin works with both digital media and traditional media to create paintings, murals, and illustrations. Lin's mission as Illustrator is to represent and communicate with all audiences from underrepresented groups in her own visual language. As a public artist, Lin has been designing and executing large-scale public murals in both the Pacific and Inland Northwest.

Shimmer, sparkle, twirl . . . I am a creative girl!

It's Science Fair time! Imani wants to win, but needs to find an idea that can beat the crowd-favorite volcano. Can Imani think outside of the box to take home the blue ribbon?

Read Woke™ Books are created in partnership with Cicely Lewis, the Read Woke librarian, to reflect the diversity of our world. Now in Spanish!

Contributor Bio

Cicely Lewis is a school librarian with a passion for creating lovers of reading based in Georgia. In 2017, she started the Read Woke challenge in response to the shootings of young unarmed black people, the repeal of DACA, and the lack of diversity in young adult literature. She was named the 2020 National Librarian of the Year by School Library Journal and Scholastic, a 2019 Library Journal Mover and Shaker and the 2019 National Teacher Award for Lifelong Readers by the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) and Penguin Random House (PRH).

Anastasia Magloire Williams is an illustrator, storyteller, and graphic designer living in sunny Florida. It is her passion to paint colorful adventures, reveal important history, and tell untold stories that reflect the diverse world we all share. Just like in the book Wild, Wild Hair, she had a complicated relationship with her big Afro as a child. But with the help of her amazing stylist Okeya, she has learned to love her magical hair!

Ruth y el libro verde (Ruth and the Green Book)

Gwen Strauss, Calvin Alexander Ramsey, Floyd Cooper

Key Selling Points

- Spanish translation of a top-selling picture book
- Provides an age-appropriate introduction to life during the Jim Crow era
- Stunning illustrations by the late Floyd Cooper

Available in Spanish for the first time, this exceptional picture book introduces young readers to the challenges Black travelers faced during the Jim Crow era.

Summary

Ruth was so excited to take a trip in her family's new car! In the early 1950s, few African Americans could afford to buy cars, so this would be an adventure. But she soon found out that Black travelers weren't treated very well in some towns. Many hotels and gas stations refused service to Black people. Daddy was upset about something called Jim Crow laws . . .

Finally, a friendly attendant at a gas station showed Ruth's family The Green Book. It listed all of the places that would welcome Black travelers. With this guidebook—and the kindness of strangers—Ruth could finally make a safe journey from Chicago to her grandma's house in Alabama.

Ruth's story is fiction, but The Green Book and its role in helping a generation of African American travelers avoid some of the indignities of Jim Crow are historical fact.

Contributor Bio

Gwen Strauss's is an award-winning poet and her writing has appeared in many publications, including the London Sunday Times, The New Republic, New England Review, Kenyon Review, Tampa Review, and Antioch Review. She has also published books of poems titled Trail of Stones and The Night Shimmy which has been translated into several languages. She works as the on-site director at the Brown Foundation Fellowship Program at the Dora Maar House in Ménerbes, France.

Calvin Alexander Ramsey is an Atlanta-based playwright, photographer, folk art painter, and children's book author. His plays have been performed across the United States and his picture books have won numerous awards including an ALA Notable Children's Book, a Jane Addams Children's Book Award Honor, and a Children's Book Committee at Bank Street College Best Children's Book of the Year. He is the father of three children, all of whom are writers.

Floyd Cooper (1956-2021) was a Coretta Scott King Award winner and illustrator of numerous books for children including Ruth and the Green Book, A Spy Called James, and Max and the Tag-Along Moon. Unspeakable, one of his final picture books, was a National Book Award longlist title, a Sibert Honor book, and a Caldecott Honor book. He received a degree in fine arts from the University of Oklahoma and went on to develop a distinctive art technique called oil erasure.

Summary

Prepárate para atajar una de las preguntas más difíciles del fútbol: ¿quién es el portero de fútbol más grande de todos los tiempos?

Los porteros pueden ser los jugadores más importantes en el fútbol. Aprende sobre porteros increíbles y las salvadas, rachas sin goles y campeonatos que los transforman en los más grandes de todos los tiempos.

Profundiza con estadísticas y textos llenos de acción para descubrir a los mejores porteros de fútbol del pasado y del presente en un divertido formato de ranking de los diez mejores. Estudia los datos por ti mismo e investiga tu propia lista de los mejores de todos los tiempos (o G.O.A.T., por sus siglas en inglés). ¡Después, diviértete convenciendo a tus compañeros aficionados al fútbol de que tu lista es la mejor!

Prepare to field one of the toughest questions in soccer: Who is the greatest soccer goalkeeper of all time?

Goalkeepers might be soccer's most important players. Learn about incredible goalkeepers and the saves, scoreless streaks, and championships that make them the greatest of all time.

Go deep with stats and action-packed text to discover the best soccer goalkeepers of the past and present in a fun, top-ten format. Study the evidence for yourself, and research your own G.O.A.T. list. Then have fun convincing your fellow soccer fans that your list is the best! Now in Spanish!
